Director's Note

RING OF FIRE

This production is not a biography, nor is it a traditional musical narrative. It is a gathering of voices, memories, and songs that trace the spirit of Johnny Cash rather than the facts of his life. His music comes from a mythic American landscape of dust and fire, faith and rebellion, mercy and reckoning. These songs feel less written than unearthed, carried forward by those who needed them most. Instead of telling a single story, this piece listens for the echoes, the voices that rise when people come together to sing truths that are too heavy, too joyful, or too necessary to carry alone.

This is an actor-musician production, and the music is the heartbeat of the storytelling. The performers create the world of the play in real time, instruments in hand, shaping sound the way storytellers shape legend. There is no separation between the teller and the tale. The cast becomes a modern-day chorus, passing songs like firelight, illuminating moments of humor, sorrow, defiance, and grace. In this shared space, the music is alive, communal, and immediate. These songs are not performed so much as they are passed on, made by human hands and human voices, like fire, like prayer, like a promise that the story is never finished.

WELCOME TO The Village of Northport

INCORPORATED 1894

Welcome To Historic Northport. Settled in the early 1600s Northport is a quaint, thriving, waterfront village located on the north shore of Long Island. The first inhabitants of Northport were peaceful Indians known as the Matinecocks, whose camp perched on a lake shore site is now occupied by the Long Island Power Authority (LIPA). In 1650 the first Europeans came to the territory from New Amsterdam and reported their discovery to the Dutch government at The Hague.

The report described good fishing, fine meadowlands and mostly level ground suitable for farms and cattle. Six years later, this area, which would be called Great Cow Harbor, was purchased from Chief Asharoken by three Englishmen for seven quarts of liquor, two coats, four shirts and eleven ounces of powder. Relations between the settlers and the Indians were friendly, and the small colony flourished with farming and shell-fishing.

As an incorporated village, it is part of the famous "Gold Coast," lying between the townships of Huntington and Smithtown along Route 25A (also known as Fort Salonga Road and North Country Road). Northport's famous Main Street, with its nineteenth-century trolley tracks still in place, splits off from Route 25A and continues towards a magnificent view of scenic Great Cow Harbor. Numerous Victorian and eighteenth-century homesteads, shops, and storefronts, all carefully preserved, line both sides of the street.

The History of the Theater

Northport's first movie house was built in 1912 at 256 Main Street, but movies were only one of its uses: Its grand opening included a vaudeville show, and over the years the space was used for high school commencement ceremonies, political rallies, children's recitals, and even basketball games when space in the building was leased by the school system. The early movies were silent films, accompanied by a pianist. Admission to evening shows was 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children. The Northport trolley added an evening trip in 1913 so that East Northport residents could get home after the movies. Talkies didn't come to Northport until about 1930 when a local businessman leased the theater and installed new projectors.

In April 19, 1932, the theater caught fire, after a blaze started in the adjoining Chevrolet dealership. The responding fire departments found too little water pressure in the hydrants to fight the fire, and water had to be hauled up from the harbor by the truckload. To no avail—the building was a complete loss. The following August, the village board voted for major improvements in the water system.

The first plan for replacing the theater was to rebuild on the same site, but theater builder William McNeil began constructing one on the adjoining property. After much to and fro, Prudential Playhouses Inc. settled on the McNeil site, at 248–250 Main Street, that is occupied by the present theater building. The new Northport Theater, with 754 seats, was opened with speeches and a great ceremony on November 23, 1932. Much was made of the fact that it was of fireproof construction, with major components of its electrical system isolated in a fireproof room in the basement. Uniformed ushers were recruited from the Northport high school, to be selected by the superintendent. The initial attraction was Sherlock Holmes, starring Clive Brook and Ernest

Torrence.

The building erected on the site of the old theater was used for a lunchroom under various ownerships, including use by the Northport U.S.O. during World War II. In the 1970s it was converted into two stores.

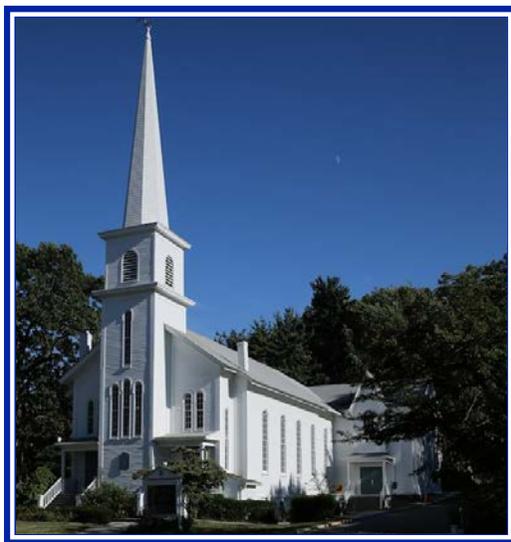

In 1950 the Northport Theater, still operated by Associated Prudential Theaters, underwent major alterations: Most noticeably the stainless steel marquee was added. The lobby was remodeled, new seats, stage curtains, and wall coverings replaced and a modern air-conditioning system installed. The cost of renovations was put at $100,000—about as much as the construction of the building had cost 18 years earlier.

As film industry economics and consumer tastes changed, control of the Northport Theater eventually shifted to United Artists Eastern Theatres, which for years offered second-run movies at cut-rate prices. At 99 cents, later raised to $1.25, movie-going in Northport in the early 1980s was a bargain. But UA finally closed the theater in 1996, and a new owner's plans to renovate the building for a reopening in 1997 were frustrated when the interior was vandalized. The Northport Theater reopened in 1999, but failed to make adequate commercial headway.

On June 30, 2006, Huntington resident and entrepreneur Kevin O'Neill and his wife, Patti, purchased the Northport Theater. Kevin then partnered with theater expert and attorney, Richard Dolce, who had been running the Broadhollow Theater Company, to convert the Northport

Theater into a year-round professional live theater. In tribute to Patti's brother, Chief Warrant Officer Four John William Engeman, who was killed in Iraq on May 14, 2006, they renamed the theater the John W. Engeman Theater at Northport.

ESSENCE OF FORM

JUROR EDWARD ACOSTA

FEBRUARY 17 - MARCH 22, 2026

RECEPTION

FEBRUARY 27, 2026, 5-8PM

"Essence of Form challenges both artists and viewers to embrace the power of abstraction. Shapes, colors, and lines transcend the surface to peak directly to our emotions and imagination. In this exhibition, I look forward to seeing how artists transform the intangible into visual language — proving that even the simplest form can carry profound meaning."
